THE GREAT REVIVAL GROWS IN INTEREST

Evangelist Smith Speaks With Great Power and the People Are Flocking to Each Service.

Twelve prayer meetings, including one formed by the Young Ladies' Reading Club at the close of their meeting yesterday afternoon, reported a total attendance of 172. The spirit of the men's prayer meeting was expansion. They are going out of the upper room and will seek to hold services by invitation in the various places of business each afternoon.

Dr. Smith, at the services yesterday and last night, got himself acquainted with the people. He prefaced his sermon last night by a hearty commendation of the business men for their active and aggressive work in this meeting. He believes in them. He believes in everybody as being willing to do right. He feels that most people who do wrong are not helped to do right. His text was James 5:19-20. Look it up. The sermon was of an encouraging and inspiring sort. Many truths of practical religious and moral life were reinforced by countless illustrations.

The preacher said: "We need Jesus Christ in our business. The saddest thing to me is not in the fact that a man keeps a saloon or gets drunk, but that he is failing to live as God wants him to live." He emphasized his belief in God and his inspired word and in the blood of Jesus Christ as the saving power for men's souls. "Save a child," he said, "and you save a life. We don't know how great a life is. Let us not bemean people or fail to expect the best of them, but get an arm of love about them and save them."

Real interest was manifested by some individuals at the close of the service.

This Morning's Service.

A supply of five hundred new song books was on hand and distributed for use in the meeting.

The preacher read from the eighth chapter of Acts. His first question was "What if Bryan should come to Christ?" Some one answered it would be heaven on earth. The congregation named certain things that would be done, the whole tenor being to describe the kind of city we ought to have.

Dr. Smith said the only trouble about the whole country, cities and all, is just sin. There are no perfect cities on earth and no perfect individuality. To live right we need God's help. Husbands and wives ought not to put anything in each other's way to keep them from living close to God. There are soul battles that can't be told about. Husbands and wives never get much closer together than when they kneel down in prayer to God with their common cares.

Give the boys a chance. A fellow that is in perfect health is a great deal better morally than one who is not physically all right. Christianity is a system of right human relations. I love the laboring men and these great business men as well. We Christian people must break down the reserve. Men are waiting for us to bring the Gospel to them.

The song "Almost Persuaded" was sung with great feeling by the hundreds of people who were present. Be at the tent for the service tonight at 7:45.

NEW WAGON BRIDGE FOR GALVESTON BAY

Temporary Structure 5,600 Feet Long
Will Connect With Undamaged
Part of Causeway.

(By Associated Press)
Galveston, Tex., April 12.—The commissioners of Galveston County Tuesday awarded a contract for the construction of a temporary vehicle bridge across Galveston Bay connecting the island and mainland. There will be approximately 5,600 feet of the temporary bridge, which will connect the undamaged portions of the causeway. The work is to be completed within seventy days and will cost $41,561.

The structure is to serve for vehicle traffic until the causeway, seriously damaged in the hurricane of last August, is rebuilt.

CANNING FACTORY FOR MILANO.

W. S. Noble was in town Monday and reported that at last he had secured a suitable site for his Milano canning factory and that the actual work of erecting same would be in progress next week, the machinery being loaded for shipment this week. He thinks the stuff will be on the ground by Monday and actual construction work started. The work will then be pushed to an early completion and the plant will be ready for business not later than June 1.

The location secured is on the Santa Fe right of way, right in town, and carries with it full water privileges, thus assuring the truckers that there will be no handicap either in the matter of water or of loading and shipping. The plant will have a capacity of 20,000 or 20,000 cans daily. The truck farmers about Milano are to be congratulated on the securing of this plant. It means much to them and assures permanency to the truck industry. Milano is indeed fortunate. The Reporter trusts that Mr. Noble's venture will be a big financial success—which it will be if the truckers will grow the stuff.—Rockdale Reporter.
